

TODAY'S READINGS

Zeal for your house will consume me. (John 2:17)

If you remember just one thing from today's Gospel, remember this: you are God's temple. Just as Jesus cleared the Temple of all corrupting influences, he wants to cleanse us. Just as he was zealous for his Father's house, he is zealous for each of us—for we are all temples of his Holy Spirit.

But let's put this story in perspective. Remember how encouraging and supportive Jesus is throughout the Gospels.

Remember how much he loves you. Remember, also, that he intercedes for you day after day.

Jesus is zealous for us in his passionate love, and there are times when his passion is directed against the sin in us. That's where we get the phrase the "wrath of God."

We mar this beautiful temple of our lives when we allow sin to overtake us. Whenever sin rules us in this way, our temple gets a little more darkened, and that upsets the Lord. Of course, his anger is directed against our behavior, not against our hearts. But it is a passionate anger nonetheless.

So let's choose never to cause the Lord to be angry with us. Let's make sure that Jesus is first in our lives. Let's make sure that we do not let any sin enter our lives and defile the temple of our hearts or our bodies. And if we should fall, let's have the courage and the humility to confess our sins and be reconciled with the Lord. In short, let's do everything we can to make the temple of our hearts as pure and holy as possible.

Let's also pray for the courage to evangelize. There are many people in the world who are corrupting their temples. It's up to us to reach out to them, beginning with our families and friends. We can help them to get right with God so that they can experience the passion of his love and not his wrath.

"Lord, let zeal for your house consume me. Send me into the world with the message of your passionate, all-encompassing love."

LECTURAS DE HOY

Cuando Jesús purificó el templo de Jerusalén, él se estaba presentando como el nuevo "templo" que reemplazaba al antiguo y al mismo tiempo demostraba el celo consumidor que Jesús sentía por la casa de su Padre, porque sabía que el templo debía ser el lugar sagrado, para que el pueblo lo viera a él como el nuevo templo de Dios.

Los romanos destruyeron el templo de Herodes en el año 70 d.C. y eso fue una tragedia espantosa para Israel. Pero los cristianos se consolaban sabiendo que el templo, como centro de la presencia de Dios, había sido sustituido por Cristo resucitado y glorificado, porque en Cristo, Dios estaba presente en su pueblo y el sacrificio de Jesús reemplazaba definitivamente la necesidad de los sacrificios constantes. Todo lo que Dios había hecho para preparar al pueblo había llegado a la consumación en su Hijo Jesucristo.

En efecto, Cristo Jesús es el nuevo comienzo de lo que Dios realiza entre su pueblo. Por eso San Pablo insistía en predicar a Cristo crucificado, aun cuando ello fuera piedra de tropiezo para los que buscaban señales milagrosas o alguna nueva filosofía. Para el apóstol era imprescindible que los creyentes reconocieran en Cristo el poder de Dios para actuar y la sabiduría de Dios para entender (1 Corintios 1, 22-25).

Ahora bien, ¿reconocemos nosotros la singularidad de Jesús? ¿Podemos apreciar que todo el plan de Dios está lleno de la persona de Cristo? ¿Lo consideramos como la nueva obra de Dios y el cumplimiento de todo lo que el Señor ha hecho en el pasado? ¿O es una roca de tropiezo, que tratamos de hacer aceptable para nuestra forma de pensar del siglo XXI? Ojalá aceptemos esta nueva obra de Dios, que es el único camino, la única verdad, la única vida: nuestro Señor Jesucristo, el nuevo templo de Dios.

"Jesús, Señor y Salvador mío, enséñame a vivir para ti, de modo que tú seas lo más importante en mi vida y en la de mis seres queridos. Lo único que quiero saber es que tú eres mi Dios y mi Señor y servirte todos los días de mi vida."

Lenten Morning of Reflection

Saturday, March 21, 2015

9:00 AM – 12:00 PM

Location: The Great Hall

Looking for Something More Out of Lent?

During our Lenten Morning of Reflection, we will reflect on the spirituality that interlaces the season of Lent, the Three Great Days (Easter Triduum), and the Easter season. The forty days of Lent are about baptismal remembrance. The Three Great Days are about renewal and celebration of baptismal identity. And the fifty days of the Easter season are about our common baptismal mission to the world. Deepening your sense of their interconnectedness and sharpening your appreciation for the spirituality of Lent in particular can help you build up some steam as you approach the homestretch and enter into the Three Great Days. It's all about coming more fully to life!

About Rev. Thomas Ryan, C.S.P. Paulist Father Tom Ryan's ministry has been marked by dual passions for the spiritual life and for Christian unity. The author of 15 books on a wide range of spiritual themes, he leads retreats throughout North America and preaches ecumenical parish missions entitled Gospel Call. He directs the national Paulist Office for Ecumenical and Interfaith Relations here in D.C.

Origin of the Stations of the Cross

Like many of our Catholic devotions, the Stations of the Cross that we know and practice as a form of worship, particularly during Lent, has a long history of development. Many legends exist about the origins of this devotion including one that asserts Mary used to visit daily the scenes of Christ's passion. Stories from the early Church also exist about pilgrims making trips to Jerusalem to visit the sites, but nothing about which sites, how many or in what particular order. Later, there were some attempts to stress the importance of the sites in Jerusalem by granting indulgences to those who visited them, but when is unknown. The earliest resemblance to a defined "Via Crucis" was the 5th century construction in Bologna, Italy of connected chapels representing some of the important shrines in Jerusalem.

Beginning in the 1400's, church writings refer to specific groupings in various European locations to represent the geographical sites of the Passion. In some cases, these routes were designed to measure the exact distance between each of the holy sites in Jerusalem. An English pilgrim, William Wey, was the first to use the word "station" when he visited Jerusalem in 1458 and 1462. The first evidence of a particular demarcation of stations was in 1520 when Pope Leo X granted indulgences to a set of sculptures in Antwerp that represented the seven sorrows of Mary. If seven was the number marked by Pope Leo for the stations in the Antwerp cemetery, how did the number 14 come to be? William Wey referred to 14 stations during his journey in Jerusalem; but for at least 200 hundred years, the number varied from 19 to as high as 37.

The determination of the precise number of stations and their identities developed during the 16th century when church officials began to include image representations of the outdoor stations inside parish churches and cathedrals. It was not until 1731, when Clement XII assigned indulgences to stations was the number set at 14. The inclusion of stations in every church became essentially a mandate from Benedict XIV in 1742. It should also be noted that the special indulgence assigned to the Stations was later extended by Clement XIV to separate crucifixes for the benefit of the sick, imprisoned and those at sea who could not visit the stations in a church.

Because this is a form of private devotion, the Church does not prescribe a specific format for praying or meditating on the Stations. Consequently, different booklets have been published to assist one in praying or meditating on the Stations in a particular way. Frequently, this private devotion is prayed in a public way, especially during Lent. A recent and increasingly popular form of praying the Stations is that composed by Pope John Paul II known for its focus on scriptural texts.

During this period of Lent when we are mindful of the sacrifice of Jesus, all are encouraged to pray or meditate on the Stations of the Cross, whether privately or publicly when scheduled. At the cathedral, the Stations are prayed publicly each Friday during Lent after the 5:30pm Mass (approximately 6:00pm) and on Good Friday at 7pm.

Orígenes del Vía Crucis o (Estaciones de la Cruz)

Como muchas de nuestras devociones católicas, el Vía Crucis que sabemos y practicamos como una forma de culto particularmente durante la Cuaresma, tiene una larga historia de desarrollo. Existen muchas leyendas acerca de los orígenes de esta devoción incluyendo una en la cual dicen que María visitó diariamente las escenas de la Pasión de Cristo. Historias de los primeros tiempos de la Iglesia existen sobre como peregrinos hacían viajes a Jerusalén para visitar los lugares, pero nada en concreto cuantos visitaban o en cual orden. Más adelante hubo varios intentos de conceder indulgencias a aquellos que los visitaban, pero no se sabe cuándo. Lo más temprano de un definido “Vía Crucis” fue en el siglo quinto en Bolonia, Italia, con la construcción de capillas que se conectaban y representaban algunos de los lugares sagrados en Jerusalén.

Empezando en los años 1400, escritos de la iglesia refieren a grupos específicos en varias localidades europeas que representaban sitios geográficos de la Pasión. En algunos casos, esas rutas fueron designadas para indicar la distancia exacta entre cada uno de los lugares santos en Jerusalén. Un peregrino inglés, William Wey, fue el primero que usó la palabra “estación” cuando visitó Jerusalén en 1458 y 1462. La primera evidencia de una diferenciación de estaciones fue en 1590 cuando el Papa Leo X concedió indulgencias a un grupo de esculturas en Antwerp que representaban los siete dolores de María. Sí eran siete el número que marcó el Papa Leo para las estaciones en el cementerio de Antwerp, ¿Cómo llegaron a ser 14? William Wey se refirió a 14 estaciones durante su viaje en Jerusalén; pero por al menos 200 años, el número varió de 19 a 37.

La determinación de los números de estaciones y sus identidades se desarrolló durante el siglo 16, cuando oficiales de la iglesia empezaron a incluir representaciones de imágenes de la calle, dentro de las parroquias y catedrales. No fue hasta 1731, cuando Clemente XII, asignó indulgencias a estaciones, el número de grupo de 14. La inclusión de estaciones en cada iglesia fue mandatorio por Benedicto XIV en 1742. Se debe decir que las indulgencias especiales asignadas a las estaciones fue extendida más tarde por Clemente XIV a separar crucifijos para el beneficio de los enfermos, encarcelados y aquellos que estaban en los buques y no podían visitar las estaciones en una iglesia.

Siendo que esto es una forma de devoción privada, la Iglesia no tiene un formato especial para rezar o meditar en el Vía Crucis. Por lo tanto, se han publicado diferentes libretos para asistir a cualquiera en rezar o meditar en las Estaciones en una forma particular. Frecuentemente, esta devoción privada se reza en una forma pública especialmente durante la Cuaresma. Una forma muy popular de rezar el Vía Crucis es la que compuso el Papa Juan Pablo II, basado en textos de las Escrituras.

Durante la época de Cuaresma, cuando somos conscientes del sacrificio de Jesús, todos debemos rezar o meditar en las Estaciones de la Cruz, bien en privado o públicamente cuando hay un horario. En la Catedral, el Vía Crucis o Estaciones de la Cruz, se rezan en público cada viernes a las 6 de la tarde (en inglés) y el Viernes Santo a las 7 de la tarde. En español, se reza cada domingo después de la misa de la 1 de la tarde.

St. Matthew's Cathedral Adopt-A-Family Program

Easter Drive 2015

St. Matthew's Social Justice & Community Services Committee is collecting grocery store gift cards to distribute to our families in need this Easter season.

We are collecting $25 Safeway gift cards. Please pick up a flyer with an attached envelope to use for donations found at the main entrance of the Cathedral.

You may send your donation to St. Matthew's by mail, drop it off at the rectory, or leave it with volunteers collecting donations on the weekends of March 14 and 15, as well as March 21 and 22. Please be as generous as possible, as there is a great need for assistance. We would like to receive the gift cards no later than March 25.

If you prefer, you are welcome to make a financial donation. Simply write a check to St. Matthew's Cathedral with "Adopt-A-Family" on the note line and drop in the collection basket or mail it/turn it in to the rectory. Any donation that we receive above what is needed for the families at Easter time, will be used to assist the families with grocery gift cards and other emergency assistance during the year.

For more information and to volunteer with this drive, please contact Pedro Carroll at pedro.carroll@mac.com.

Your support will allow families in need to enjoy a hearty meal this Easter.

Thank you very much for your generosity!

"Amen, I say to you, whatever you did for one of these least brothers of mine, you did for me." (Mt. 25:40)

Catedral de San Mateo Programa de Adopte-Una-Familia

Colecta Pascual 2015

El Comité de Justicia Social y Servicio Comunitario de la catedral está recogiendo tarjetas de regalo para el uso de compras de comida, las cuales serán distribuidas a familias necesitadas durante este tiempo de Pascua. Estamos recogiendo tarjetas de regalo de $25 de Safeway. En la entrada central de la catedral se podrán recoger volantes con sobres para entregar sus donaciones.

También puede mandar su donación por correo, dejarla en la rectoría o entregarla a los voluntarios que estarán recogiendo donaciones los fines de semana del 14 y 15 de marzo, y el 21 y 22 de marzo. Por favor sean generosos, porque la necesidad es grande. Quisiéramos recibir las tarjetas de regalo hasta el 25 de marzo.

Si prefiere, puede hacer una donación financiera. Simplemente dirige un cheque a St. Matthew's Cathedral con “Adopt-A-Family” en la línea de nota, póngalo en el sobre incluido con el volante y lo entrega durante la colecta de la Misa o lo puede mandar por correo o entregarlo a la rectoría. Lo que sobre de las donaciones será usado para ayudar a las familias necesitadas en casos de emergencia durante el resto del año.

Para más información o para ayudar como voluntario, póngase en contacto con Pedro Carroll a pedro.carroll@mac.com. También puede llamar a la rectoría.

Su apoyo dará la oportunidad a que las familias en necesidad puedan disfrutar de una cena abundante durante esta Pascua.

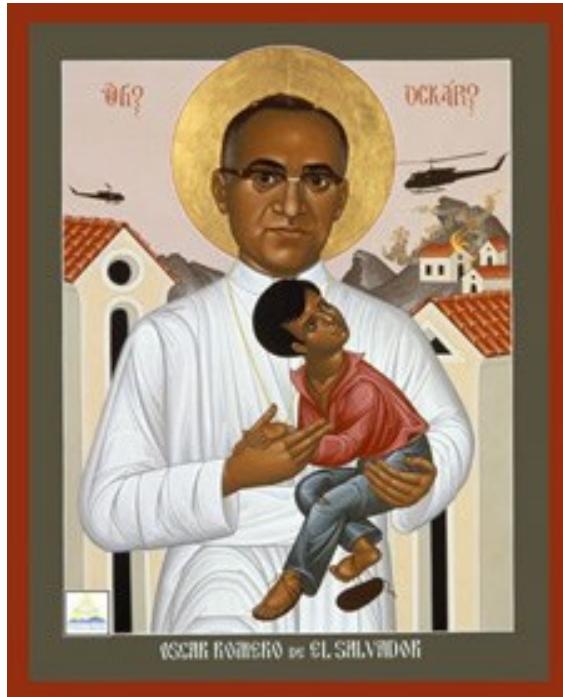

¡Muchas gracias por su generosidad!

“De cierto os digo: En cuanto lo hicisteis a uno de estos mis hermanos más pequeños, a mí lo hicisteis.” (Mt. 25:40)
