

Readings for October 7

It is not good for the man to be alone. (Genesis 2:18)
Doesn't it sound as if God created Adam and then noticed that something was missing? Maybe he realized that this man needed a partner, and so he decided to take one of his ribs and build another one like him.

Of course, we know that God didn't make a mistake. He created our first parents exactly as he wanted to. By saying, "It is not good for the man to be alone," he was stating an eternal truth: we were made to be together. We were made for community.

This fundamental eternal truth is why men and women get married. It's why they have children. It's why we have neighborhoods, parishes, sports arenas, and restaurants. We need each other! God has given all of us the desire to give of ourselves to each other. And we need to receive other people into our lives in order to feel human.

This is why it is so painful when a marriage ends in divorce. We have given so much to each other—and in so intimate a way—that we feel betrayed, rejected, and alone. Deep in our hearts, we understand that it is not good to be alone, and so we hurt.

If your marriage is going well, praise God! Keep on loving and caring for each other.

If your marriage is struggling, don't give up! Let other people help you—maybe your pastor, an older role model, or a counselor. You don't have to struggle on your own, and neither does your spouse.

If you are divorced, reach out! Your story isn't over. God hasn't rejected you. He never stopped loving you. There are people around ready to help you—people through whom you can feel Jesus' love and presence.

God doesn't want any of us to walk alone. Not only is he walking right beside you; he has sent people to walk with you as well. He loves you too much to abandon you.

"Jesus, thank you for my friends and family. Lord, reach out to every lonely person, and show them that they are never alone."

Music and Ministry

The Mass Through New Eyes: *Unlock the Power of the Mass – Do you have the interest and the courage to discover how? Would you be willing to risk walking into a room knowing that you might not be able to leave as the same person? Come on Saturday, October 27, 9 – 11:30am, to discover a religious and spiritual experience that could change you forever. What is really happening at Mass? What is intended? And what is promised?

Thomas Stehle, Pastoral Associate for Liturgy and Director of Music Ministries at the Cathedral, will lead us through a discovery of the essentials of the Eucharist as celebrated by Roman Catholic Christians. We will examine why we believe the Mass is crucial to “live in the manner worthy of the call we have received.” We will unpack each element of the Mass, and discover how its celebration nourishes and sustains the Body of Christ to which we claim to belong. Ample time for discussion will accompany the morning. The session will begin with a special musical morning prayer in the St. Anthony Chapel, and continue in the North Conference Room. If you would like to attend, please rsvp at tstehle@stmatthewscathedral.org. Registration is not required, but is helpful for planning. (Limited to the first 70 participants)

Lecturas del 7 de Octubre

Lo que Dios unió, que no lo separe el hombre. (Marcos 10, 9)
Las palabras de hoy son, a veces, demasiado inflexibles o exigentes, especialmente para quienes han pasado por la traumática experiencia de un divorcio o un matrimonio fracasado. Decimos que Jesús sabe lo que dice y que tiene poder para sanar hasta a los matrimonios peor avenidos; pero también es cierto que algunos divorcios se producen por abuso físico o psicológico, infidelidad persistente u otra causa grave.

Es difícil tratar de imaginarse el dolor que experimentan los matrimonios que se divorcian. Aquello hermoso que una vez comenzó con ideales elevados y gozosos y con las mejores intenciones, ha degenerado en rechazo, desconfianza, aislamiento y desamor, al punto de dejar profundas heridas en toda la familia. ¿Cómo puede Jesús condenar a personas como éstas? La respuesta es que no las condena. Dios no envió a su Hijo a condenar al mundo, sino a salvarlo (Juan 3, 17) y en realidad el Señor desea encontrarnos dondequiera nos hallemos en la vida y nos ofrece su amor sanador y restaurador.

Si estás divorciado o divorciada, has de saber que Jesús te ama siempre y comparte tu dolor y tu sufrimiento. Acuérdate del encuentro que tuvo con la mujer junto al pozo (Juan 4, 1-42). No la condenó, aunque después de haber estado casada cinco veces, vivía con un hombre sin casarse. Más bien, la llevó al arrepentimiento y le ofreció curarle sus heridas con el agua viva de su amor.

Así pues, sea que alguien esté casado, separado o divorciado, es preciso que sepa que Dios lo ama, que nunca lo condena ni lo rechaza; por el contrario, lo que el Señor desea hacer es curarle las heridas. Cualquiera sea la situación en que te encuentres tú, querido lector o lectora, el Señor puede transformarte con el tiempo e incluso usarte para proclamar su Reino. Sea lo que sea que uno haya hecho en el pasado, Jesús quiere abrazarnos y colmarnos de su bendición.

“Jesús, Señor mío, ayúdame a trabajar por la unidad en el matrimonio. Derrama tu gracia sobre todas las familias que han sufrido por causa del divorcio.”

Sacrament of the Anointing of the Sick
A Celebration of Healing
Sunday, October 21 at the 11:30am Mass

Do YOU know someone who is a: child or adult about to undergo or is recovering from surgery; or someone experiencing or being treated for a serious physical or mental illness or condition; or who is physically handicapped or seriously impaired by old age." If so, then we would like to invite them to receive this sacrament.

Of the seven sacraments, the Church classifies two of them as the sacraments of healing: Reconciliation (usually known as Confession) and Anointing of the Sick. Each of them involves healing the human person; one for our spiritual health and the other for our physical well-being. How these sacraments have been practiced in the life of the Church has differed over time. This brief summary is about the anointing of the sick. Historically, oil was widely used in the ancient world for a variety of life purposes: lighting, cooking, athletic preparation, special marking and especially healing wounds. So, it is not surprising that the New Testament includes reference to the use of oil, once in Mark's gospel and another in a letter of the apostle, James.

In the life of the early church, the common use of oil for healing was given a special blessing by the bishop to call upon God's power for the benefit of the sick. During the early centuries, the application of the blessed oil could be done by any of the baptized faithful, since it was primarily for the healing of physical defects. In later centuries, it began to be associated with the dying to heal the soul before death, especially as it was done concurrent with one's last confession. Thus, during these later centuries, this concurrent use of both sacraments led to limiting the sacramental anointing to those who were ordained, i.e. a priest.

All sacraments are for the benefit of the individual, but we are all members of the Body of Christ. So, when one member of the body is afflicted, so is the whole body. And as the physical body makes an effort to assist healing the afflicted part, so also the spiritual body is involved in healing the injured member. To reflect this theology, the Church encourages this sacrament to be administered as much as possible in a public way, even if administered in a hospital or nursing home. So, the sacramental ritual provides for celebrating the anointing as part of a community liturgy, such as Mass, much as we do for baptisms, first communions, and the other sacraments.

At St. Matthew's, our communal celebration is celebrated on the Sunday closest to the feast of St. Luke who is especially associated with the sick. There will be a similar celebration in February to enable our Hispanic parishioners to participate in this special sacramental celebration. We encourage your presence and participation

"If anyone of you is ill, he should send for the elders of the church, and they must anoint him with oil in the name of the Lord and pray over him." (James 5: 14)
