FULLY ENJOYING LIFE!

WHEN: Saturday, December 4, 2021
10:00am – 3:00pm
Mass at 12:10pm followed by a light lunch

WHERE: Cathedral of St. Matthew the Apostle
1725 Rhode Island Avenue, NW
Great Hall (entrance near the parking garage)
Two blocks north of the Farragut North (Red Line) Metro station
Four blocks north of the Farragut West (Orange, Silver and Blue Lines) Metro station

Happiness seems elusive but the Gospel proclaims, God is with you and is your everlasting joy! Today, we might feel burdened. We might feel like life has been upsetting, dreary, and just plain hard. But we can be happy and fully enjoy our lives as they are. And we can enjoy life now!

Often, we are not happy because we are resisting the moment, clinging to some fleeting pleasure, chasing some perceived need, or reacting to something we do not like. In spiritual language, we are not happy because we have attachments, things we are convinced we need to be fulfilled in life. Jesus calls us to surrender our attachments to know the endless bliss of God within.

In this retreat, we will reflect on our attachments and how to let them go. We will experience contemplative practices to help us let go and open to God.
